ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE Atkinson
TOWN OF PLAISTOW.

As the law directs the following report for the year ending March 1, 1888 is respectfully submitted.

SCHOOLS NOS. 1 AND 3.

In order to increase the length of the schools, it was deemed best that these two be united. This did not seem to be very impracticable or unreasonable, as nearly all of the scholars lived within a mile or less of either school house. The slight inconvenience to a few (more than compensated for by the privilege of attending the Academy after the close of the other schools) can easily be overlooked when we consider that by this union the length of each school in town was increased three weeks. There were two terms of nine and seven weeks, beginning April 25 and Sept. 5th respectively. Miss Annie G. Emerson of Haverhill, Mass., was the teacher. She fully maintained her previous record as an able, skillful educator of youth. The discipline, notwithstanding the larger number of scholars on account of the union, deserves special notice. There were no boisterous outbursts at recess or dismissal. As good order is indispensable, and an almost certain indication of a good school, so the completed work proved. The examinations of an interesting character gave evidence of industry and faithfulness on the part of teacher and scholars. The method of instruction used is commendable. For instance, after a class has read, giving each word the proper pronunciation and emphasis if needed, and each sentence appropriate inflection, books are closed, and a process of thorough questioning begins; and every thought suggested by the lesson is brought out and impressed on the minds of the pupils.

During the first term the schoolhouse at the Centre was used, and the second, the East road school house.

SCHOOL NO. 2.

This school was taught by Miss Mary E. Eaton of Haverhill, Mass. There were two terms of nine and seven weeks: the first beginning April 25th, and the second Sept. 12th. Miss Eaton having taught here several years has become well acquainted with the parents and scholars, and therefore knows the needs of the school, and understands how to deal with each individual. Hence there is no loss of time. Directly upon opening school, work begins and proceeds quietly and harmoniously till the close. The examinations showed that steady progress had been made in all branches of study pursued. The subject of temperance had evidently received some attention. Vocal music was prettily rendered; which, indulged in occasionally, though considered by some people a waste of time, is undoubtedly enlivening and restful to the mind of the pupil; just as physical exercise invigorates and renews after continued mental exertion. The recitations of the pupils were choice and interesting, containing many sentiments which impressed on the youthful mind, will be retained through life, leavening and influencing all subsequent ideas which may be grasped.

SCHOOL NO. 4.

The spring term of this school, beginning May 2d, and ending July 1st was taught by Miss M. Ella Hoitt of this town. The school appeared very well on the occasion of our first visit, and as far as appearances went, promised to be a success. But, either from a want of tact on the part of the teacher, or an indisposition on the part of some of the pupils to adapt themselves to the situation, or from some other cause, it hardly met our expectations. We think that, as a general rule, it is not good policy for a teacher to make a beginning in their own neighborhood, having scholars who perhaps may have been their fellow pupils or members of the same family, and who are naturally averse to being governed by one with whom they have previously associated on terms of equality. We see no reason to doubt but what the teacher might have been successful had she taught in some other locality.

The fall term of seven weeks in length was taught by Miss Nora B. Green of Chester, a former teacher of the school, and under whose judicious management everything appeared harmonious and satisfactory. The order was excellent, and both teacher and pupils seemed united in the effort to make the school a success. The closing examination showed that even with a small number of pupils and a short term, much can be accomplished under such favorable conditions as existed in this school.

SCHOOL NO. 5.

Both spring and fall terms of this school were taught by Miss Minnie C. Townsend of Hampstead. This was Miss Townsend's first attempt at teaching, and considering her youth and inexperience, we think she succeeded as well as we could reasonably expect. The final examination was, as usual, well attended by the parents and other friends of the school, and the exercises were very creditable to both teacher and pupils.

It is worthy of mention, as showing the interest of the pupils in their school, that although some of the scholars reside more than a mile from the school house, nearly three fourths of their number were not tardy nor absent for a single half day in a term of nine weeks in length.

THE ACADEMY.

The district at its last annual meeting having voted the sum of three hundred dollars for the support of the Academy during the past year, perhaps some reference to the school may not be out of place in this report. We would therefore briefly state, that in the opinion of Mr. Emerson the member of the board who visited the school at different times while it was in session, it fully met the expectations of its many friends, and fully sustained its previous reputation as an institution of learning. He also reports the order and methods of instruction as being satisfactory.

As the question of further contributing a part of the school money for the support of this school is to come before our citizens at the annual meeting of the district, argument on the part of the School board, either for or against the wisdom or policy of continuing the present arrangement would seem to be unnecessary.
